In Finland, there is a field experiment going on for two years at the moment with the aim of finding out whether a basic income can simplify the social security system of a country and increase employment rates. For this experiment, 2000 randomly selected Finnish unemployed will receive 560 EUR per month instead of the usual unemployment benefits, with no conditions attached. To what extent would you agree to a field experiment of a similar duration with accompanying scientific research on the effects in Germany? (from: soep-is/soep-is-2017-f/Q442:ibge3[17325])
